

Energy Subsidy Reform Online Community (ESROC)

Energy Subsidy Reform Online Community (ESROC)

was launched by ESMAP to service governments' demand for a continued dialogue on energy subsidy reform. It is a members-only online platform for government officials and experts to network, collaborate and learn from each other's experiences and expertise.

WHAT IS IT?

A secure online platform to discuss experiences of energy subsidy reform. Chatham House Rule applies to allow an open dialogue.

PURPOSE

To facilitate communication between government officials and experts, to promote the reform of energy subsidies worldwide.

MEMBERSHIP

Government officials, World Bank Group staff, experts from international organizations focused on energy subsidy reform.

SERVICES

Access a global network of experts and peers, initiate and participate in open discussions, propose and attend webinars, access past events and knowledge materials.

GET STARTED NOW!

- 1 REACH OUT to your World Bank counterpart and/or get in touch with the platform manager to express interest.

- 2 You will RECEIVE AN OFFICIAL INVITATION to join the ESROC Online Community in a separate email.

- 3 Please CLICK ON the link and follow the prompts.

- 4 You will need to “JOIN” COLLABORATION for Development (C4D) and “ACCEPT” OUR INVITATION to the Energy Subsidy Reform Group.

- 5 Join the DISCUSSION!

If you need any assistance with registering and creating your profile,
please contact the platform manager
at esroc@worldbank.org

The World Bank • 1818 H Street, NW • Washington, DC 20433 USA
www.esmap.org • esmap@worldbank.org

Photo credits: Front • Jason Batterham, Thinkstock®
Back • Dana Smillie, The World Bank
Inside • Gennadiy Ratushenko, The World Bank